Says DP Numbers Grow, Morale Low

There are twice as many DP's in Europe today as there were a year ago, Dr. James G. McDonald said on his arrival from Europe, and their morale is lower than ever.

Dr. McDonald, former League of Nations High Commissioner for Refugees and an American member of the Anglo-American committee of Inquiry on Palestine, said that the Jewish refugees are especially depressed because they feel the world has let them down. Most of the DP's want to go to Palestine, he declared, and they look to the UN for help. He added that many also hope to enter the United States.

Before seeing the DP camps, Dr. McDonald revisited Palestine, where he participated in the breaking of ground for the first new building of the projected Hebrew University and Hadassah Medical School for which $4,000,000 is being raised in America in a joint campaign conducted by Hadassah and the Hebrew University. He was the first member of the Anglo-American Committee to return to that country since the Committee submitted its historic report which contained the recommendation that 100,000 Jewish displaced persons be admitted to the Holy Land.

"It is heartening and typically Jewish," Dr. McDonald told reporters, "that in the midst of curfews and the alarms incident to the presence in this small country of more than 100,000 British troops, the Hebrew University authorities should go confidently ahead with ...

Holds Jews Should Adhere To West

The Zionists will present two prime requests to the United Nations' fact-finding commission when it begins hearings in Jerusalem.

These will be, first, to recommend the establishment of a Zionist state on the basis of independence, and, second, to recommend the full discharge of the Palestine mandate in accordance with its letter and spirit until the final decision has been set up.

This official Zionist program highlighted a political survey delivered by Mrs. Golda Meyerson, head of the political department of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, at the second session of the Jewish elected assembly. The major part of the address was devoted to assessing the results of the United Nations' special Palestine session as they affected Zionist prospects. She emphasized that it was too early to draw final conclusions.

Mrs. Meyerson's gratified reference to Andrei A. Gromyko's address at Flushing Meadow brought a sharp rejoinder from one delegate representing Aliya Hadasha, of the New Settlers' Party. He objected to the transfer of Palestine Jewry's sympathies "eastward" and urged that Palestine Jews ad-

Complains U.S. Aid Too Meagre

...Irgun Zvai Leumi is being financed continually by Haganah, the militia of the official Zionist movement, with the fact that Irgun Zvai Leumi's supporters in the United States have sent only one illegal refugee vessel to Palestine, whereas Haganah's have sent thirty since the end of the war. The one vessel was the Ben Hecht, named for the playwright and author, who is a prominent figure in the American League for a Free Palestine.

A spokesman of the Fighters for the Freedom of Israel, known also as the Stern group, said that his organization was receiving "very slight support" from Peter Bergson, originator of the American League for a Free Palestine, and his associates.

A recent written statement from Irgun Zvai Leumi said that the Bergson organizations "support our struggle."

A memorandum from the Stern group to the United Nations asking for action to make Britain comply with the General Assembly's appeal for an interim peace in Palestine has been pigeonholed by the Polish Consulate General, which received it. The Consul General said he did not consider the memorandum to be important and that he intended to do nothing about it.

Tells How To Recognize Fascists

As a companion-piece to "How to Identify an American Communist," issued in February, L. M. Birkhead, founder and national director of Friends of Democracy, Inc., liberal organization, offered a formula on "How to Recognize an American Pro-Fascist."

Declaring that "there are very few in the United States who admit being Fascists," Mr. Birkhead said that "those who do fit into what might be termed the Fascist pattern almost invariably proclaim they are anti-Fascist, anti-Nazi and anti-Communist."

Characterizing themselves as "100 per cent Americans," followers of the "Fascist pattern" label themselves with such names as "Christian Nationalists" and use "100 per cent Americans" or "Americanism" in the names of their movements, the statement added.

"The pattern they follow is important, not the names they give themselves," it read. "Every Long ...

Scout Report Of Paid Non-Jews On Boats

Reliable Zionist quarters in Jerusalem scouted suggestions that non-Jewish Poles or Yugoslavs had infiltrated the refugee ships. These quarters insisted that the Jewish refugees would quietly recognize any "aliens" among them and would not tolerate their presence.

Organizers of the migration are not likely to spend money on or use eventual quota permits for non-Jews, it was said. "Even assuming that the Jews wanted to raise more Haganah (underground militia) forces, there are plenty of able-bodied people already here," was one comment.

British authorities are presumably in a position to check the bona fides of all refugees, who are carefully screened on reaching detention camps in Cyprus, to which they are shipped. American and Palestinian welfare workers for the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee and similar bodies operating in Cyprus would be easily able to single out such mercenaries.

Since October, 1945, when Jewish unauthorized immigration was resumed, the only one ship not backed by Haganah has arrived among the thirty-five immigrated vessels to reach Palestine. This was the Ben Hecht. All its refugee passengers were taken to Cyprus.

A spokesman for the American League for a Free Palestine said in New York that his organization knew of no program of sending ... to Palestine. He ... Christian, to go to Palestine without passport. He said the Union of Hebrew Partisans, with headquarters in Rome, had a program of getting as many underground fighters as possible out of the camps and to Palestine, but that these persons were not mercenaries.

Reopen Munich Synagogue

Two hundred and forty survivors of Munich's pre-war Jewish community of some 18,000 persons rededicated the Reichenbach Synagogue, demolished by the Nazis in 1938.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States Military Governor in Germany, was the ranking guest and speaker as the centuries-old ritual was resumed. Representatives of the German civilian administration, which provided encouragement and assistance in the restoration of the synagogue, also participated.

"Today is a new day," General Clay told approximately 200 spectators crowding every seat and aisle of the synagogue, which normally accommodates 600 persons. "We must look forward and not backward.

"As a soldier I recognize courage. As a soldier I am humble here in face of the suffering of the Jewish people.

"I seem to sense here a feeling of tolerance, understanding and mutual good will. Perhaps, in dedicating your new synagogue, we are at the threshold of a new tolerance throughout the world.

"The people of the United States would want me to extend greetings to you. The American Army in Europe freed you. It now stands to protect you and preserve the rights of all men."

Dr. Hans Ehard, Minister-President of Bavaria, assured the congregation, led by Dr. Aaron Ohrenstein as chief rabbi, that the German people wanted to atone for the sufferings endured by the Jews in Germany.

A memorial tablet of black marble, honoring the millions of Jewish victims of Hitlerism, was unveiled by an American, Maj. Abraham S. Hyman.

Another American, Rabbi Alexander S. Rosenberg, honorary official for the Synagogue Council of America and Director of religious affairs for the American Joint Distribution Committee, attended

Claims World Jews Look To U. S. Leadership

The American Jewish community has entered the most crucial stage of its history, Dr. Salo W. Baron, professor of Jewish history, literature and institutions, Columbia University, told the National Conference of Jewish Social Welfare at Baltimore, Maryland.

"The mantle of world Jewish leadership," he said, "has been suddenly thrust upon the shoulders of Jewry in America."

"The Jewish communities all over the world look now to America and expect it to utter those new redeeming words and develop those new ways of life which will assure Judaism's continued creative evolution in the modern world," Dr. Baron asserted.

Unprepared for this weight of responsibility, and "hence bewildered and internally divided," Jewry in America, he declared, had had to take on for the world not only its traditional struggle in the fields of social welfare and democratic rights, but also "the more complex domains of religion and culture." He urged a fostering of "the creative efforts of religious-minded individuals and groups in all camps."

Dr. Baron presented a four-point program which, he said, "must supplement all present community-wide undertakings" if the Jewish community here was to succeed in its new undertakings. This program was:

1. The broadening of Jewish historical knowledge. For this pur...

Must Alter Disparity Of Non-Zionists

The British Colonial Office has asked the Jewish Agency for Palestine what steps are being taken to reconstitute the Jewish Agency Executive in accordance with its constitution. A final reply to the inquiry is now being awaited.

The statement was made in Jerusalem by a Palestine Government spokesman in answering a question by an Arab newspaper man. The Arab declared that the present composition of the Jewish Agency did not conform to the basis upon which recognition was accorded—the condition that membership of the Agency should include 50 per cent non-Zionists and 50 per cent Zionists. This prerequisite for official recognition was stipulated by the British Government in a letter to the Jewish Agency dated Aug. 6, 1930.

The Government spokesman said: "It is understandable that the disruption of Jewish communities in Europe as a result of the war renders difficult the restoration of representatives of institutions to nominate non-Zionist members of the agency council. But the fact remains that the present composition of the agency does not conform with the arrangements accepted in 1930.

"It is hoped that urgent steps are accordingly being taken by the Jewish Agency to render its composition irreproachable on constitutional grounds."

Drimer, 596 Bloomfield Avenue, dinner party; Mrs. H. Drimer, 5271 Coolbrook Avenue, and Mrs. M. Drimer, 2787 Maplewood Avenue, at tea, at Eaton's.

Mrs. Hellfield wore a dinner gown of heaven-blue crepe, with a corsage of American Beauty roses and baby's-breath. The grandparents of the bar-mitzvah boy are Mrs. N. Helfield, Girouard Avenue, who wore a gown of black crepe with black beaded neckline, and a corsage of red roses; and Mrs. C. Grossner, Villeneuve Street West, who wore a gown of black lace, and a corsage of red roses. Audrey, sister of the bar-mitzvah boy, wore pale pink, with a headdress of pink flowers. Miss Ray Helfield, of New York, sister of Mr. Helfield; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Helfield, Hutchison Street, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Grossner, Mackay Street, were among the guests who were of the immediate family. The tables at dinner had lilacs and other spring flowers. A. A. Shapiro was master of ceremonies, and Cantor E. Goldberger, of Adath Israel Synagogue, sang. The bar-mitzvah boy gave his address and his brother, Kenneth, lit the candles on the white, inscribed birthday cake. Among the speakers were: I. Kugelmass, Esplanade Avenue; L. Grossner, J. M. Helfield, Philip Grossman, and Max Helfield. Dinner music was played and an orchestra played for dancing. Ices were cut at a sweet-table later in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steinwald, Cote St. Antoine Road, gave a birthday party in honour of their daughter, Alice Reva, who was five years old. Coloured streamers and bunches of balloons hung from the ceiling, and coloured birthday candles completed the decorations. Alice Reva wore a dress of blue flowered silk, with a white ribbon in her hair. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Savitsky, St. Urbain Street, grandparents of Alice, were there; Miss Bella Savitsky, St. Urbain Street; Mrs. C. Steinwald and daughter, Hannah, McNider Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. M. Catholic Decries Jew Hatred Group prejudice, particularly prejudice against Jews, was decried by Robert J. Boyle, a member of the board of governors of the Knights of Columbus, in New York.

Speaking to 2,300 Catholic teamsters and chauffeurs at a communion breakfast in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Mr. Boyle condemned race prejudice as a form of group hate springing from ignorance and the basest human emotions.

"Prejudice between Catholics and Protestants and Jews is a racial prejudice," he said. "The Jew may take on another form of religion, but he is never allowed to forget he is a Jew. This racial prejudice comes from group hate, fostered by ignorance. Group hate is to race prejudice what bigotry is to religious prejudice."

Mr. Boyle declared that no Catholic might indulge in race prejudice, because "it is a fundamental teaching of the church that every man is born with a soul in the image and likeness of God."

Praised For Aid To Farmers

Jewish farming communities, the Jewish Agricultural Society and trustees of the Baron de Hirsch Fund paid tribute to Dr. Gabriel Davidson in the society office, 386 Fourth Avenue, New York. It was a testimonial meeting to honor him for having served forty years as an executive of the society.

Embossed scrolls bearing resolutions of homage were presented to Dr. Davidson, managing director of the society for the past thirty years. A watch from the Baron de Hirsch trustees and a chain to match from members of the office staff also were given to him.

Jewish farming communities in New Jersey and Connecticut sent delegates who praised Dr. Davidson for his aid to them.

MARRIAGES

GOLLISH-NAIMAN

The marriage of Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Naiman, 33 Henry Street, to Irvin (Kelly) Gollish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gollish, 538 Brunswick Avenue, took place on Sunday, April 20, at six o'clock, at Hebrew Men of England Synagogue, with Rabbis A. A. Price and M. H. Levy officiating, assisted by Cantor J. Zigelman. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Her gown was of white satin and nylon. It had an off-the-shoulder neckline, with nylon inset and lace frill, long sleeves, a tight-fitting bodice ending in a scalloped satin peplum, and a full nylon skirt, embroidered with a beaded satin flower, falling into a circular train. Her full-length veil was held by a satin crown, trimmed with orange blossoms, and she carried a Bible, decorated with two orchids, and streamers with sweet peas and ferns. Miss Goldie Naiman, sister of the bride, attended her as maid of honour, wearing a Grecian gown of honey-beige crepe, with cap sleeves, a sweetheart neckline, and draped skirt, with a tiara headdress of gold flowers, and carried deep red roses. The bridesmaids were: Misses Esther Naiman, sister of the bride, in a pale blue satin gown; Shirley Gollish, sister of the groom, in peach-colored taffeta; Goldie Wiseman, in pink satin and net; Essie Naiman, cousin of the bride, in turquoise-blue crepe; Carole Levenson, in pale blue taffeta; and Estelle Tobe, cousin of the groom, in peach-coloured taffeta. Their half-hats were of contrasting pink and blue veiling, and they carried cascades of spring flowers. Morris Gollish, brother of the groom, attended him as best man, and the ushers were: Seymour Tobe, David Tobe, Harry Tobe, and Arthur Tobe, cousins of the groom; Alec Greenspan, and Leslie Drexler. In the synagogue, the bride's mother, Mrs. Naiman, received, wearing a blue crepe gown, trimmed with sequins, matching gloves, and a corsage of deep red roses. Mrs. Gollish, mother of the groom, wore a grey crepe gown, with fuchsia-coloured gloves, and a corsage of deep red roses. For the wedding trip to Buffalo, N.Y., the bride wore a gold-coloured suit, and muskrat coat, with natural straw hat, navy accessories, and an orchid corsage. They will reside at 538 Brunswick Avenue. Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. M. Bragman, Mrs. E. Berlin, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gollish and daughter, Pauline, of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Keltz and daughter, Donna, of Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tobe and children, David, Arthur, Belle, Rose, Esther, Marilyn, and Gwendolyn; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tobe and children, Estelle and Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gold, and L. Mandel, all of Niagara-on-the-Lake; Mr. and Mrs. J. Pearlman, of Patterson, N.J.; and Mr. and Mrs. I. Alter, of Ingersoll.

WEISER-LIPOVICH

The marriage of Dorothy, daughter of Samuel Lipovich, 309 Euclid Avenue, and the late Mrs. Sadie Lipovich, to Max Weiser, son of Abraham Weiser, of Uxbridge, and the late Mrs. [illegible], took place on Sunday, April 20, at three o'clock, at Holy Blossom Temple, with Rabbi Dr. Abba Hillel Silver officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Harry Lipovich. She wore a white satin gown, with lace bodice, and a full skirt, with lace panel, and a lace train. Her veil was held by a lace cap, and she carried a white Bible, decorated with white orchids and streamers. Miss Ruth Lipovich, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a pink satin gown, with matching lace bolero, and a pink satin picture hat, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Weiser was attended by his brother, Sam Weiser, as best man. The ushers were: Irving Lipovich, brother of the bride, and Jack Weiser, brother of the groom. The bride's mother received, wearing a navy-blue crepe gown, with white accessories, and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Weiser, mother of the groom, wore a grey crepe gown, with navy accessories, and a corsage of white roses. For the wedding trip to Buffalo, N.Y., the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Buffalo, N.Y., and will reside in Toronto.

ROSENSTEIN-COHEN

The marriage of Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cohen, 297 Huron Street, to Harry Rosenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rosenstein, of Buffalo, N.Y., took place on Sunday, March 23, at three o'clock, in Temple Beth David, in Buffalo, N.Y., with Rabbi Moses Learman officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore an afternoon dress of beige crepe, cut with a high round neckline, winged cap sleeves, and a tiered peplum skirt, with long pink gloves; and a brown open-crown off-the-face hat, trimmed with pink and lime-green roses, and nylon veiling. She carried a Bible decorated with pink streamers and pink roses. Miss Jeannette Cohen, sister of the bride, who attended her as maid of honour, wore an afternoon dress of royal-blue crepe, with long white gloves, a winter-white hat, trimmed with red roses, and a corsage of roses. Isadore Fingold attended the groom as best man. A reception followed at the home of the groom, 66 Butler Avenue, Buffalo, N.Y. The bride's mother, Mrs. Cohen, received, wearing a grey crepe dress, with black satin hat, and a corsage of fuchsia-coloured carnations. Mrs. Rosenstein, mother of the groom, wore a navy-blue crepe afternoon dress, with matching hat, trimmed with pink flowers, and a corsage of pink carnations. For the wedding trip to New York, the bride wore a brown shepherd's check suit, with brown coat, and winter-white hat. The bride and groom will reside in Buffalo, N.Y. Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Straha, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lax, of New York; Mrs. M. Goldberg, of Rochester, Jack Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Sol. Budd, Mr. and Mrs. P. Budd, Mr. and Mrs. L. Budd and daughter, Hattie; Mr. and Mrs. William Budd, Miss Helen Cohen, Samuel Cohen, and Max Cohen, all of Toronto.

HE'LL NEED FORESTS TOO!

If you look to the bush country for recreation or business, you'll realize how much it will mean to the youngsters of today if you help to save the forests for tomorrow. Above all, protect the forests from fire.

Ontario has been abundantly blessed with natural resources, which, if not properly protected, can be quickly exhausted. Every year, for example, thousands of acres of trees are destroyed because someone is not careful with fire.

Forests mean much more than a pleasant place to holiday . . . an attraction for tourists . . . shelter for game animals and fishing haunts. They mean more than a source of lumber and paper products, and jobs for thousands of people, vital as these are to national welfare.

Climate is tempered—extremes prevented—by forest areas. They store water too—help to keep rivers and streams from dangerous and costly flooding in spring time. They spread the flow of water more evenly through the year. That means they help to ensure a year-round supply of Hydro power for you.

Protect the forests. They serve you well.

SOME WAYS TO BE CAREFUL ABOUT FIRE

- Break each match in two before you throw it away.
- Be sure your discarded cigarette is really out.
- Keep camp fires small, and always in a safe place.
- Before you leave, put the fire DEAD OUT with water.

Painted for Calvert by Adam Sherriff Scott, R.C.A.

In Toronto on November 2nd, 1864, Sir Charles Tupper urged an immense torch-lit throng to support federation. Long an advocate of unity, his leadership did much to ensure Confederation. Premier of Nova Scotia, Prime Minister of Canada, Sir Charles Tupper gave freely of his genius to develop the Dominion.

In 1864 TUPPER said:
"Create a union... of understanding"

In 1622 CALVERT said:
"Fair dealings lead to union"

EARLY in the 17th century, Calvert foresaw the development of the New World through united effort. "Assist your neighbours" he said," They are men of high esteem."

Famous English statesman, Secretary of State to King James I, founder of colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland, Calvert championed unity far back in the 1600's. "Prepare for the future" he urged his pioneer settlers, "preserve unity."

Man of Vision 300 years ago, Calvert's ideals have been shared by all men of vision since Calvert's time. Today let each of us be a man of vision—work earnestly for a united Canada.

The full measure of our stature as a nation depends upon unity of purpose. There is only one Canada for clear-headed Canadians.

Darkening The Colour Of The Sheep

By Professor Selig Brodetsky, President Of The Jewish Board Of Deputies, Of Great Britain

I have not the opportunity of knowing in great detail all the statistics about crime in this country, and I cannot speak with great authority about the sort of way in which employers or business men or workers or trade union leaders or anybody else do things which are not strictly in accordance with law or regulations, but I have a sort of impression that Jews, like non-Jews, are the same kind of human beings. Non-Jews do things which should not be done and Jews do things which should not be done, and I have the impression that if we got down to statistics I think we should find a general sort of greyness of the whole landscape; that is to say, most human beings behave decently and most Jews behave decently, but among all sections there are sheep of various colours.

Unfortunately, it is not an uncommon thing to darken the colour of the sheep, or, shall we say, to make the sheep stand out, particularly in public reports or public statements about such matters. We Jews have suffered enormously from this; we Jews suffered from it during the war and we are suffering from it now . . . Fascism is now being preached in this country. There is no Fascism in the world today which did not begin with anti-Semitism which I have ever heard of, with one exception. Italian Fascism is the only Fascism which did not begin with anti-Semitism, but that ultimately became anti-Semitism, and every other Fascism in the world has begun with anti-Semitism.

We have won the war. When I say 'We,' I mean we British and we Jews, who are all human beings, who stand for liberty and freedom in the world, have won the war. It has been one great struggle in which the place of the Jew was obvious. But nobody could have anticipated the extent to which the suffering produced by the war was going to be concentrated upon one particular group of human beings, namely, the Jews. It is a thing which one gets tired of talking about, but I do not know if it is realised that the Jewish casulties due to the war have been twenty times as great as the casualties of Great Britain, and that Jewish suffering because of the war has been beyond any description . . .

With all the great pity that human beings who have not had their characters destroyed by Fascism must necessarily feel, namely, the feeling of pity even for every German, even for those Germans who might have been associated with the sufferings of the Jewish people, that pity must not allow the great pity for the Jews not to remain in our minds.

I have seen the bombed German towns, but all that which has happened to the Germans is nothing but a fleabite compared with what the Germans did to hundreds of thousands of Jews during the war, and what the Germans prepared for before the war, and what we warned the British [illegible]

But already the world thinks it has done enough. . . . There are very much colder winds blowing across Poland, Hungary and Rumania where the miserable remnants of Nazi misery are trying to find an existence, and where thousands of Jewish orphans are trying to live in the chaos which has been brought about by the war.

The very natural question is: what has humanity done for all those? I am sorry to have to say, almost nothing, except to keep these people alive with a ration which the Minister of the Crown who is responsible for the British Zone in Germany said to me himself in so many words, means semi-starvation and which is the same ration as the German people are getting. . . .

We are to-day faced with a decision on behalf of His Majesty's Government that they cannot solve the Palestine problem and they must leave it to the United Nations, with the sort of accompaniment that the Arabs and the Jews are unwilling to consider any compromise. It is not true that the Jews are unwilling to consider any compromise. The Arabs have shown not the slightest sign of any readiness to discuss anything in connection with Palestine, but we Jews have taken every possible step. The Jewish Agency has declared to the Government, not only now but months ago, its readiness to make the greatest possible compromise in regard to Palestine. Nevertheless, I suppose in order to keep the balance even, these things are stated, but I am sure the person who stated them must have known them to be untrue.

The second task we have to deal with is to ensure the future of any Jews who will remain in the ex-enemy lands. That is a task in which the Board of Deputies has been engaged and a task in which I must claim a certain credit for the Board. It was the one institution which stood out most vigorously for the uniting of all Jewish forces together in order to have a united force in this task. If it had not been for the Board Deputies at the meeting in Paris, then this would not have happened.

A certain amount of success has been established in the Peace Treaties which have just been signed between the Powers and the five ex-enemy countries. There has been a certain amount of success in that direction, but please do [illegible]

Your particular task in this country is part of a much bigger job, and a much bigger Jewish job, because anti-Semitism in this country is not a natural characteristic of British political life and not a natural characteristic of the British soul or the attitude of British men and women towards life. That is a thing which we have to remember. There are very few people who have been forced by events to quarrel with the British Government as much as I have — quarrelling, of course, in a sense which cannot be compared with other people's quarrels, but I shall never forget, and I shall never omit to mention the fact that this country is the country which we Jews have looked to for many years as the country of freedom and the country of Jewish admiration. Perhaps that is because Britain has learnt so much from the Bible. Perhaps it is due to us. I do not know.

Never has the problem of the world been so complicated as it is to-day; never has the problem of the Jewish people been so complicated as it is to-day. Do not look forward to an easy time. We have to deal with a danger which is represented by attacks on synagogues, by the burning of the Holy Scrolls of the Law, a thing which one would not have thought possible to happen in this country as it happened in Germany. These things have now happened in this country. We are in the midst of this danger, and, therefore, we have to fight against it and we have to realise that by doing so, we are ensuring not only the status of the Jews here but also in other countries because this country has a very great influence on the opinions of the world. We shall be helping to ensure the peace of the whole of humanity.

The Jewish Agency For Palestine

The Jewish Agency for Palestine is the highly vocal and organized executive organ of the Jewish community of Palestine, and also represents Jews from perhaps fifty nations interested in Palestine's upbuilding. It derives support in part from world philanthropy, and in much smaller part from the dues of Zionists throughout the world.

Its world executive committee has nine members in Jerusalem, three in London and seven in the United States. David Ben Gurion is chairman. The members were most recently elected by the biennial Zionist congress that met at Basle, Switzerland, in December. The Congress was chosen by 2,000,000 voters.

The legislative organ of Palestine, chosen by the Jews there, is the Vaad Leumi—the Jewish national council. The pattern of statehood extends even into a military wing—for much the same Palestinian support stands behind Haganah, the so-called Jewish army, with an estimated 60,000 armed men.

In fact, while the Jewish community is nowhere recognized by any government in even the way various regimes-in-exile still have diplomatic recognition in some states, the report of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine of April 20, 1946, said:

"The Jews have developed under the aegis of the Jewish Agency and the Vaad Leumi, a strong and tightly woven community. There thus exists a virtual Jewish non-territorial state, with its own executive and legislative organs, parallel in many respects to the Mandatory Administration and serving as the concrete symbol of the Jewish national home."

The agency stems from the Zionist movement, founded in 1897 to obtain for the Jewish people a home in Palestine. The Zionists began practical colonization and development in the Holy Land in 1908, establishing a Palestine office in Jaffa that was forerunner of the present Jewish Agency Executive in Palestine.

When the League of Nations Mandate intrusted Palestine in 1922 to British rule, it specified that "an appropriate Jewish agency shall be recognized as a public body" to advise and co-operate with Britain in "economic, social and other matters as may affect the establishment of the Jewish national home, and the interests of the Jewish population in Palestine." This co-operation was further spelled out to include settlement by Jews; construction or operation of public works, services and utilities, and development of natural resources.

In the Mandate document, the Zionist movement was recognized as the agency, "so long as its organization and constitution are in the opinion of the mandatory appropriate." In 1930, when non-Zionists entered into co-operation, the present Jewish Agency for Palestine was recognized in lieu of the Zionist organization.

The Anglo-American report said the various Jewish parties of Palestine—even though some criticize the idea of a Jewish state—are "united" in advocating unlimited immigration and abolition of restrictions on land sales, and "accept the authority" of the Jewish Agency.

The Agency's principal offices are in Palestine. Others are in London, Paris, Geneva, Washington and New York. The last is at 16 East Sixty-sixth Street. The agency's twenty-four departments include the political, handling representation before governments; immigration, selecting and training immigrants; and agricultural colonization, settlement and po[illegible] department of education, and section chairmen; Rabbi Wolf Gold, of the Mizrachi, or Orthodox movement; Dr. Nahum Goldmann, of the General Zionists; Hayim Greenberg, of the Labor Zionists; Mrs. Rose Halprin, of the Hadassah, women's group; Dr. Emanuel Neumann, vice-president of the Zionist Organization of America; and one Palestinian citizen, Moshe Shertok, chairman of the Agency's political department in Palestine.

New Book Is First By Jewish Chaplain

The first full-length book by a Jewish chaplain, giving an account of his experiences under fire and his activities in the post-liberation period in Europe, is published by Behrman House, Inc., of New York, bearing the title "With an H on My Dog Tag." The book, basing its title on the "religious preference" indication, P for Protestant; C for Catholic; H for Hebrew, stamped on identification tags worn by all U.S. service personnel, is written by Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer, holder of the Bronze Star Medal for "meritorious achievement," and now Associate Rabbi at the Park Avenue Synagogue in New York.

Rabbi Kertzer in the course of his service was confronted, by the tens of thousands of men who sought him out, with a range of problems which "ran the gamut of human experience." The chaplain, he says, served as father, brother, lawyer, psychiatrist and social worker, but mostly he was "simply an audience to men who found relief in talking about things that distressed them." The chaplain, Rabbi Kertzer notes, was the emotional safety valve in the military establishment.

"With an H on My Dog Tag" is pleasantly studded with richly humorous anecdotes, many of a particularly appealing Jewish flavor, like the story of the young GI who confessed that he had spent part of the proceeds of a successful evening at cards on "something I have wanted all my life, a real good pair of tefillin" (phylacteries).

Rabbi Kertzer's story, told in easy, fast-moving language, covers a vital period. He watched French Jewry, after the liberation, emerge from the wooded recesses and the 20th century catacombs, horribly scarred by the Nazi brute. He met the Underground to Palestine, spent time in Tel Aviv, inspected the laboratory at the Sieff Institute where, he was told by Dr. Anna Weitmann, sister of the famed Jewish leader, "we developed the drugs for the treatment of malaria among the British troops." Rabbi Kertzer helped the Jews of Marseilles and Dijon; he saw Rome in upheaval (and held conversations with the convert Zolli whose act caused an international sensation). He watched as Jew met Nazi, after victory.

The author was born in 1910 in the "bush country" of northern Ontario, where his father had pioneered. A log cabin in Cochrane on what was then "the last mile of steel" was his first home.

A graduate of the University of Toronto, the author was ordained at the Jewish Theological Seminary and did graduate work at Columbia, Illinois, and [illegible] for several years with the British Hillel Foundation [illegible] at the close of the war the only Jewish chaplain on the Anzio beachhead to first to enter Rome. After the invasion of Europe, he served in [illegible] of southern and central France.

DOMINION OILCLOTH & LINOLEUM CO. LIMITED MONTREAL MADE IN CANADA

Years of Faith and Foresight

In the far off days of '72 when Canada was young, when the destiny of a new Dominion was being shaped by those who made Confederation possible, men of vision and enterprise were fashioning the foundations of Canadian industry.

It was then that the Dominion Oilcloth Company was first established. Small was the Company's beginning, and modest the plant where the first of these now famous floor coverings were produced. But the founders of this business builded better than they knew. That little plant, founded 75 years ago, is today Canada's largest producer of linoleum and oilcloth.

The beauty and resiliency of today's linoleum are the culmination of 75 years progress in the making of better floor coverings. In the homes of Canada—in stores, hotels, hospitals, schools—wherever the traffic is constant and the wear is hard—linoleum, lovely and long-lasting, provides the fullest measure of floor beauty with minimum maintenance cost.

Today linoleum is Canada's favourite flooring. While supplies are still limited, due to a scarcity of materials, keep in touch with your dealer.

MARRIAGES

SABLOFF-BECKER

The marriage of Leisel Anita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Becker, 638 Murray Hill Avenue, to Ernest Graham Sabloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Cecil Sabloff, 4829 Victoria Avenue, took place on Thursday evening, May 22, at Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, Rabbi W. Shuchat officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her period gown of ivory satin was made with a tight-fitting bodice of Swiss lace, short cape sleeves of lace, and a full skirt falling into a short train. Her halo-shaped headdress was of tulle illusion trimmed with lace, and had a finger-tip-length veil of tulle illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, sweet peas, and lilies-of-the-valley, and had lace mitts to match the lace of her dress. Morton R. Godine was the best man, and the ushers were: Murray Sabloff, Robert Sabloff, Fred E. Becker, and Rolf Becker. Mrs. M. N. Fineberg played traditional Shevuoth music during the service. The synagogue was decorated with pink gladioli and ferns, and the pews were marked off with pink and red roses, with white satin ribbons. For the reception in the community hall, pink roses and gladioli were used to decorate. Mrs. Becker, mother of the bride, wore a gown of gold-shaded lace, with a headdress of matching tulle illusion, and had a corsage of green and bronze-shaded orchids. Mrs. Sabloff, mother of the groom, wore a gown of grey crepe, with grey-green sequin trimming, and a grey tulle illusion hat to match, and carried a hand-bouquet of white gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Sabloff left for Washington, D.C., and Virginia Beach, Virginia, the bride travelling in a checked suit, and hat; and brown alligator accessories. Mr. Sabloff graduated from McGill University, and was a lieutenant overseas with the Royal Canadian Artillery.

SCHNEIDER-PEDOVITCH

The marriage of Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pedovitch, 5460 Esplanade Avenue, to Harry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Schneider, 4873 St. Lawrence Boulevard, took place at Beth David Synagogue on April 19, at eight o'clock, Rabbi S. Herschorn officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Her white satin floor-length gown had a high, round neckline, long pointed sleeves, a low waistline, with a bustle-back, and full skirt, ending in a three-yard train. Her nine-yard veil was of illusion tulle, caught to a crown of apple blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses, and a white satin bow. Miss Helen Pedovich, maid of honour for her sister, wore a pale blue satin floor-length gown, fashioned like that of the bride, with an off-the-shoulder neckline, long, matching gloves, and a silver sequinned crown, with a shoulder-length net veil of pale blue, and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. William Kofman was best man. Spring flowers decorated the altar, with lighted candles, in candelabra, and marked the aisles. "Because" was sung. Mrs. Pedovitch, mother of the bride, wore a powder-blue crepe floor-length dinner gown, with matching gloves, a flowered hat of pink-shaded orchids, and a matching orchid corsage. Mrs. Schneider, mother of the groom, wore a grey printed floor-length dinner gown, with matching gloves, black flowered hat, and a mauve orchid corsage. Two hundred and seventy-five guests were received by them. The bridal couple went to the Catskill Mountains, and New York. Mrs. Schneider wearing a blue and white shepherd's plaid suit, and black accessories. They are living at 5460 Esplanade Avenue. From out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Silverman, of London, England; Mr. and Mrs. W. Kimmel, and Abe and Marian Kimmel, of Perth, Ont.; Sam. Cohen, of Smithville, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Arnowitz, Jerry Arnowitz, Max Isman, J. Cohen, H. Pedovitch, Mrs. R. Taxon, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Isman, of New York.

KERT-HIRSCHBERG

The marriage of Iris Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Hirschberg, 6701 Boulevard East, West New York, N.J., to Maxwell Kert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard David Kert, 4885 Queen Mary Road, Montreal, took place at the Savoy-Plaza Hotel, in New York, on February 23, at half-past twelve o'clock, Reverend Dr. David de Sola Pool, of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue, New York, officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory-shaded satin dress, trimmed with Duchess lace, and made with long sleeves. Her headdress was of Duchess lace, and her veil, of illusion tulle, and she carried a white orchid with lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Violet Kert, sister of the groom, and Miss Judith Hirschberg, sister of the bride, were her maids of honor. They wore gowns of rose-colored crepe, and carried sweet peas. Samuel L. (Laddie) Kert, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were: Richard Kert, brother of the groom, and Robert Hirschberg, [illegible] Hirschberg, nephew of the bride, wearing a gown of jade-shaded lace; and Mrs. Kert, mother of the groom, a gown of black lace. The bridal couple spent their honeymoon in Miami Beach, Florida, the bride travelling in a grey striped suit. They are living at 258 Willowdale Avenue, Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. David Rosengarten, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Green, Mrs. I. A. Kaufmann, all of Montreal; Munro Rovins, of Plattsburg, N.Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. R. Saffran, of Delaware, N.J., were wedding guests.

JUST WONDERFUL!

And it's "pareve"... An ideal "accessory" for a meat or dairy meal.

YOU can taste the old-time homemade flavour in Heinz Condensed Vegetable Soup Without Meat. A truly delicious soup! A quick-to-fix, sure-to-please soup! The choicest of vegetables, picked and cooked at the peak of goodness, are brewed together in their own juices — a touch of tangy spice is added — while the skillful Heinz chefs are on hand to see that small batches are made at a time. For good soup is never made in a hurry!

Try Heinz Condensed Vegetable Soup Without Meat! Take it from us, it's a "Mechaya."

CLASS IN COOKERY

PRIZE-WINNING MACAROONS

one tablespoon cornstarch
three egg-whites
one-half teaspoon almond extract
one cup chopped walnuts
one cup fruit sugar
one-quarter cup chopped maraschino cherries one-quarter teaspoon salt
one and one-half cups shredded cocoanut
one cup cornflakes
three or four chopped dates

Mix cornstarch with sugar, and beat gradually into stiffly beaten egg-whites. Cook in double boiler for fifteen minutes until thick, stirring occasionally. Remove from stove, and add salt and flavoring. Then fold in cocoanut, and the remaining ingredients. Drop by spoonful on a pan generously sprinkled with cornstarch, but not greased. Bake for twenty minutes in a 300-degree oven.

Mrs. David Bell,
222 Van Horne Avenue, Montreal.

(The above recipe won a prize in a contest run by Calanthe Temple Number One, Pythian Sisters.)

two cups water four eggs
one cup sugar
three cups flour
one-half cup oil
three heaping teaspoons baking powder
one teaspoon vanilla

Wash the raisins, and boil in the two cups of water. Beat eggs, and gradually mix in the sugar. Add oil, then vanilla, and mix; add baking powder and flour, and mix again, thoroughly. Pour in one glass of the boiling water taken from the raisin mixture. Add raisins. Put a very little oil in a pyrex baking dish, and oil bottom and sides. Then pour in the cake batter, and bake in a 350-degree oven, for forty minutes.

Mrs. N. Shapiro, 395 Roxton Road, was hostess at a miscellaneous shower at the Quality Restaurant, honour of her niece, Miss Ruth Kassirer, daughter of Mrs. M. Kassirer, Lippincott Street, and the late S. Kassirer, whose marriage to Harold Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Myers, Roblock Avenue, takes place on November 2. Mrs. Shapiro wore a printed crepe dress, with a gardenia in her hair, and was assisted by Miss M. Kaplan, mother of the guest-elect, in a blue crepe dress, with a corsage of pink carnations. The honoree wore a black printed dress, with a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. H. Mandel assisted the hostess. About fifty guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor W. Giblon, 484 Rushton Road, were hosts at a dinner and reception at Shaarei Shomayim Synagogue, in honour of the bar-mitzvah of their son, Jerome Harvey, who was called to the Reading of the Law. About two hundred and fifty guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Giblon, the latter wearing a black crepe dress, trimmed with tiered lace, and a corsage of pink roses. Assisting were the grandmothers, Mrs S. Fingerhut, in grey crepe, with a corsage of pink roses; and Mrs. M. Isser, in black crepe, with a corsage of pink roses. A. Brown, teacher of the bar-mitzvah boy, of Shaarei Shomayim Talmud Torah, acted as toastmaster, and speakers were: Rabbi Judah Washer, Louis Haber, and the bar-mitzvah. Miss Molly Fruitman and Saul Weinberg entertained.

pare, he said, all valuable historical records must be collected and preserved and historical research and writing must be encouraged.

2. The achievement of a fuller understanding of the contemporary situation. He said: "For this purpose we must develop a comprehensive program of sociological, statistical, economic and psychological research into present conditions and trends of American and world Jewish life."

3. The stimulation of creative thinking, writing and artistic endeavors. Dr. Baron commented, "I see a particularly urgent need for a well-endowed foundation to grant fellowships, assist in publication, and so forth, for young, gifted scholars and artists."

4. The promotion of an understanding for Jewish cultural and religious values among the masses of Jews and non-Jews by the establishment of large educational and public relations programs.

Palestine Visitor Charges Boycott By Zionist Bodies Here

The following is a letter to the Canadian Jewish Review from Max Seligman, noted Palestine lawyer, who is stopping at the Mount Royal Hotel, in Montreal:

I should be grateful if you would extend to me the courtesy of the use of your columns for the purpose of dealing with certain attacks which have been made against the Assirai Zion Fund, on behalf of which I am now visiting Canada and the United States.

It is a matter of regret to me that Canadian Zionist authorities have not thought fit to invite me to discuss matters with them and that efforts have been made to prevent me from placing the facts before the Jewish public in Montreal. In no other country have I had the experience of being actively boycotted by official Zionist bodies, and I venture the submission that my record of Zionist activity in England and Palestine over a period of many years entitles me to more courteous consideration that I have received in Montreal.

In a circular issued by the Habonim Labor Zionist Youth and the Blu-Labour Zionist Organization, presumably affiliate bodies of the Canadian Zionist Organization, a warning is given to Canadian Jewry against the Assirai-Zion Committee. It is stated that they help to do a good deal for American and Canadian Leagues for a Free Palestine. This statement is quite untrue. There is not the slightest connection between the Assirai-Zion Committee and either of the two other bodies.

Another circular, issued by the United Zionist Council of Canada, Toronto, under date of 8th May, 1947, purports to explain that there is no necessity for the Assirai-Zion Committee to raise funds in America as all the needs of prisoners and detainees and their families are being taken care of by the Vaad Leumi. These allegations also are quite untrue, and it is strange that it is only in Canada that the appeal for the Assirai-Zion Committee is meeting with official opposition.

I have been in close touch for a long time with the Assirai-Zion Committee in Palestine and am well qualified to speak of their activities. The fact is that right up to the present date not a single penny of support for the families of the political prisoners has been forthcoming from any organization in Palestine other than the Assirai-Zion Committee. It is true that over a period of a few months, when Jewish Agency officials and large number of members of the Histadruth were interned, a large sum of money was spent by the Vaad Leumi upon detainees without distinction of party affiliations, but that position has changed since the officials and the detainees in whom the Agency was directly interested in were released.

The only assistance now rendered by the Vaad Leumi consists of the services of Rabbis to the prisons and camps and parcels for detainees at holiday times. A new organization called "Lezaniryenu" was set up by the Vaad Leumi for the purpose of taking over that work of the Assirai-Zion Committee, and an appeal was made to the Yishuv to support this organization. Negotiations were conducted for many months with a view to unifying all activities, and the last meeting in this connection took place on the 31st March 1947.

Since that meeting took place, nothing further has been heard in the matter from the Vaad Leumi, and the entire burden of looking after prisoners and detainees and their families has been assumed exclusively by the Assirai-Zion Committee. They provide food and clothing and shelter for hundreds of families, which item alone involves some $60,000. They send money to the deportees in Kenya. They send regular parcels of food to the prisons and camps. They provide medical aid for the detainees and their families, newspapers, books and sports equipment for the camps, rest camps for children of detainees, and legal aid for prisoners and detainees. There are many cases in which detainees and families are maintained entirely out of the fund of the Assirai-Zion Committee.

It is not my purpose nor the desire of the Assirai-Zion Committee to indulge in attacks upon any organization or to belittle the work of any other body. But there is no moral or legal justification for the attacks which have been made by Canadian Zionist officials and bodies upon the Assirai-Zion Committee, and the work of the latter body is of a most worthy and urgent nature which deserves the sympathy and support of every Jew, even of non-Zionists.

Canadian Zionists, living in a free and democratic country, ought to realize what is going on in the detention camps of all countries where there is no freedom. Many hundreds of prisoners and detainees have been kept behind bars and barbed wire for several years without any trial or investigation. They are held solely on suspicion, and they and their families need help. The Palestine Government and the Jewish Agency do not concern themselves with their financial plight. Surely it is the duty of Jews to help them, and in the United States the Zionist Emergency Council now has under active consideration a proposal to give direct assistance to the Assirai-Zion Committee. Why should Canadian Zionists feel differently?

in Palestine has gone so far that it cannot be thwarted. It is a promise, too, that within a few years medical science will, from this incomparable site on Mount Scopus, make its unique contribution to the welfare of all peoples in the Middle East."

Dr. McDonald said that this, his second visit to Palestine, had given him a better opportunity to estimate Jewish contributions to the rebuilding of Palestine. From Galilee to the Negev, he said, "one sees overwhelming evidence that a historic people are succeeding in their mission. In all these areas, the will to build dominates in all other considerations."

The University-Hadassah Medical School, he added, in proportion to the funds provided by men and women of imagination, "would make its exceptional contribution to the lifting of the health standards of millions and, in the long run, tens of millions of people. Its influence will reach throughout the Middle East, because the problems of disease and their solution know no boundaries. Hence, those who dream of Arab-Jewish rapprochement have in the Medical School an instrument through which they can help make their dream come true."

In the United States, the American Friends of the Hebrew University, Hadassah and the American Jewish Physicians Committee are joint sponsors of a $4,000,000 campaign to build the first Medical School in Palestine. Approximately half of that goal has been attained, and it is planned to admit the first class of medical students in the fall of 1948.

Zionist Congress at Basle, Switzerland, last December called on the Agency Executive to summon representatives of non-Zionist elements among Jewish communities outside Palestine in an attempt to reconstitute the Jewish Agency council on its originally broad basis. It is understood that efforts in this direction are still in progress.

Zionists are well aware that the absence of non-Zionist representation in the Jewish Agency lays them open to the charge of not complying with Article 2 of the League mandate, says the New York Times. The reason that the Zionist Congress adopted the resolution to restore that representation was to forestall a possible British Government claim that the Jewish Agency, in its present scope was not representative of all the Jewish people. The Agency's council and administrative committee have not met since just before the war in 1939.

here to the western democracies, "which are still the pillar of Jewish hopes and by whom the final solution of the Jewish problem will be found."

Arguments centered on partition and a bi-national state. Jacob Rifkin, a leader of Hashomer Hatzair, the Left-Wing Socialists, pleaded for a bi-national state and noted that the Soviet Union supported it.

Joseph Baratz of the Labor party said that "Peter Bergson's groups —the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation and the American League for Free Palestine—are a big fraud. They collect money ostensibly for immigration but we find it is by being used for that purpose."

The prejudices and ignorance helped to perpetuate British restrictions on Zionist development. The British Government could crush terrorism by implementing the mandate, she said.

The characteristics listed as describing those who fit into the "American Fascist pattern" are:

Racism, in the U.S. taking the form of "white supremacy"; anti-Semitism or anti-Catholicism; anti-alienism, anti-refugeeism and anti-everything foreign; nationalism; isolationism and anti-internationalism, including opposition to the United Nations.

Also "Red-baiting"; anti-labor, particularly anti-organized labor; sympathy for other Fascists, now taking the shape of sympathy for and defense of the Franco regime in Spain and Argentina's Peron Government; anti-democracy, talking of the U.S. as a "republic", not a "democracy"; glorification of war, force and violence, and the advocacy of the one-party system.

CANADIAN JEWISH CONGRESS CONVENTION URGES GOVERNMENT GRANT HAVEN TO WAR VICTIMS

A resolution seeking modification of the restrictions against the admission of immigrants to Canada and for the progressive extension of the categories of admissable immigrants at the earliest possible opportunity was approved in Montreal by the Canadian Jewish Congress. The resolution, adopted at the closing session of the seventh convention of the Congress also urged the government to offer hospitality to as many as possible of the Jewish victims of the war "who are tragically in need of a haven."

The Congress also reaffirmed its solidarity with the Jewish Agency for Palestine and expressed the hope that the United Nations Commission of Inquiry on Palestine will bring about "a solution to the millenial problem of Jewish homelessness in a spirit of justice and with full realization of Jewish need by setting up a Jewish state."

The convention also strongly condemned acts of terror in Palestine by irresponsible groups and individuals. "Such acts are inimical to the best interests of Jews throughout the world and to Jewish aspirations in Palestine," the Congress said. It urged Canadian Jews to send no assistance to any group which espouses the cause of these movements.

The Congress recalled the plight of the Jewish victims of the war overseas, and called for support for its $2,000,000 relief drive. The overseas work of the Congress is being carried out in close conjunction with the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee.

cision was not hers but the United Nations'.

The petition sharply criticized the British White Paper of 1939, which restricted Jewish immigration and land purchase in Palestine. Continuation of the White Paper policy is the root of the terror, repression and bloodshed that have converted Palestine from a flourishing, peaceful land to a police state, the American Jewish Committee charged. Whatever solution is reached, the White Paper "must be struck down," it insisted.

Jews of eastern and central Europe who survived the mass slaughter by Adolf Hitler are living under [illegible] Europe to find a new community, a region they must have for Palestine, the petition declared.

The American Jewish Committee urged a seven-point program as the basis of an interim solution for the Holy Land, beginning with a provision that 100,000 immigration certificates for Palestine be distributed by the end of this year to Jews in displaced persons camps in Europe.

The program includes subsequent easing of Jewish immigration, plenary power to the United Nations Trusteeship Council to determine the rate of Jewish immigration and the character of land ownership, steady development of local self-government under Trusteeship Council direction and complete provision for the sanctity of holy places of all faiths.

Other points are adequate policing of Palestine by the United Nations, with or without the request of the administering authority, and continuation of the proposed trusteeship until the United Nations determine the time for independence.

The statement emphasized that Jewish efforts had raised Palestine from its "wretched state of a generation ago" to a country that is now technically, agriculturally, medically and culturally the most advanced in the Middle East.

Samuel Bronfman, of Montreal, was re-elected national president of the Congress and of the United Jewish Relief Agencies, and chairman of the national executive committee. Michael Garber, K.C., of Montreal, was named vice-chairman of the executive committee. Ben. Sadowski, M.B.E., of Toronto; Major Sol. Kause, of Winnipeg, and Monroe Abbey, of Montreal, were elected vice-presidents. Joseph H. Fine, of Montreal, is treasurer succeeding F. I. Spielman. Honorary vice-presidents are Rabbi H. Abramowitz, S. Belkin, Allan Bronfman, Benjamin Robinson, K.C.; F. I. Spielman, Lazarus Phillips, K.C.; and H. Wolofsky, of Montreal; A. B. Bennett, I. Freeman, E. E. Gelber, Samuel Kronick, S. J. Zacks, of Toronto; A. H. Aronovitch, and M. A. Gray, M.L.A., of Winnipeg; Dr. D. M. Baltzan, of Saskatoon; Noah Heinish, of Halifax; B. Perlman, of Calgary, and Charles Walfish, of Vancouver. H. M. Caiserman was re-elected general secretary. A Dominion Council of 850 from all parts of Canada was named to act until the next plenary session which will be held in Toronto.

Unless the "age-old wrong of homelessness" is corrected and peace vouchsafed to the decimated Jewish people seeking their own homeland, the conscience of the world will know no peace, Samuel Bronfman, national president, said at the opening of the Congress.

"We prefer to believe that in the fullness of time it will be given to all peoples to dwell secure, each in its appointed place—the world an extended neighborhood and the race of men a great fraternity," said Mr. Bronfman in a prepared address.

Mr. Bronfman said that two long years after victory for the United Nations in Europe the plight of Jewish refugees was only technically improved. Concentration camps still were their habitations as Jews existed from day to day between hope and hope deferred.

The Congress set an objective of $2,000,000 for overseas relief, but said that at best this relief served only as a temporary alleviation of displaced persons' burdens.

"The general outlines of the situation still remain grim and tragic," said Mr. Bronfman. "In the final analysis the refugee problem [illegible]

Saul Hayes, national executive director of the Congress, reported that United Jewish Relief Agencies in Canada had transmitted some $3,000,000 for overseas relief since the last plenary session in Toronto in January, 1946.

Group tensions in Canada have been considerably reduced during the past three years and the problem of anti-Semitism, especially in its more violent forms, offers no serious threat to-day, according to Mr. Bronfman, and other speakers who led the discussions in the Mount Royal Hotel.

"The truth is that it is only the isolated crank, the carpetbagger, or bigot who makes anti-Semitism his profession. The overwhelming opinion of our country, stands implacably opposed to a racialism which serves only to divide our people and frustrate our country's program," said Mr. Bronfman.

Joseph H. Fine, of Montreal, member of the national executive of the Congress, reported that an increasing section of the population of this province "keenly feel the sin and condemn the wrong of anti-Semitism."

"The Jewish community is not the only group which must deal with its neighbors in terms of group relations. Canadians must work together to create that great nation which the Fathers of Confederation envisaged 80 years ago."

Mr. Bronfman reaffirmed the deep interest of the Canadian Congress in the restoration of Palestine to the Jews and expressed the hope that the United Nations would take into full consideration the interest of the Jewish people in the Holy Land. "We trust that this commission will at last achieve that just solution which has eluded its predecessors," he said.

There was general condemnation of terrorist acts in Palestine, Rabbi Abraham L. Feinberg, of Toronto, said. "We know that the methods of bloodshed are in some spheres not only futile but harmful and surely inconsistent with Jewish tradition."

"The record of British-Jewish co-operation in the upbuilding of Palestine during the past 30 years is one of the greatest chapters of modern history. It has proven fruitful and beneficient for the entire world. If it is coming to an end and if Palestine is entering another phase in its colorful history we must never permit this great record to be tarnished by mistakes on both sides, by terror, by ill feeling and by misunderstanding," Dr. Nahum Goldmann, head of the World Jewish Congress and leader in the Jewish Agency for Palestine, declared at the banquet which was attended by hundreds.

"Terrorism in Palestine is one of the most threatening factors in the Jewish world situation. If our Jewish commonwealth were set up to-day its first duty would be [illegible] terrorists and [illegible] idealists and heroes."

"Only in a democratic society do Jews have a chance," Dr. David Petegorsky, executive director of the American Jewish Congress, told delegates. Dr. Petegorsky outlined the new approach of the Jews to the field of public relations. He said that the old line of a "plea for sympathy" on racial and religious intolerance was a thing of the past. He said the Jew of today did not worry about attitudes, but concerned himself with the policy of the country in which he lived.

VISIT HOMES TO DEVELOP FRIENDLINESS

Understanding of traditions and lore of various nationalities, particularly in communities culturally mixed, is necessary to develop friendliness among neighbors. This theme was stressed at an assembly of pupils of Public School 165, 109th Street between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue, New York, by a group of pupils of different nationalities who visited one another's homes to discuss their backgrounds.

The group re-enacted the "Parranda," which had been held in Easter week. It was under the direction of Dr. Rachel Davis Du Bois of the Workshop for Cultural Democracy, 204 East Eighteenth Street. The Parranda was suggested by a Puerto Rican mother. It is somewhat similar to a progressive party, with guests taking a different course in each others' homes.

The school is in one of the city's "so-called tension areas," with the population mainly Puerto Rican, Jewish, Irish, Negro, Italian, Oriental and Turkish. The Parranda group came to the finding that American families are alike in what they do, though they do many things differently. The comparisons of family customs centered around work, play, love and worship, Dr. Du Bois reported.

The first home visited was that of an old stock American. Old pewter, glassware and a hand-woven spread were on display. The old fashioned hop-up-and-down two-step was demonstrated as a form of recreation.

The group next visited an Irish-American home. The grandfather was a Gaelic scholar. He read in Gaelic and sang a lullaby. The music of the war pipes was demonstrated. A pupil thought there was a resemblance between Gaelic and Hebrew.

They next visited a Puerto Rican-American family. Samples of embroidery were exhibited. A record of Latin-American rhythms was played and native dances were demonstrated.

The last was a Jewish home. The visitors were treated to Passover food. Prayers were said, with the lighting of candles.

"The soundest psychological principle asserts that the only effective way of getting rid of a bad habit is to supplant it with a good one," Dr. Du Bois said. "Then prejudices are gradually overcome by friendliness."
